Agricultural Workers can have the opportunity, and guaranteed financial support to take the time they need to self-Quarantine. The fund uses the average weekly living expense factor, to build a system that provides up to 2 weeks of financial relief (with ability to re-apply, if they need to Quarantine again) to applicants who are eligible for the Oregon Worker Quarantine Fund.

- $430 for one-week
- $860 for two-weeks

For additional self-care quarantine assistance, workers must meet qualifying criteria (see website and refer to Roberto), to be eligible to reapply. Applications are considered on a case-by-case basis. First time applicants may be given priority due to limited funds.
